

Document Library

Document Library is a centralized document repository, a master system of record in which information is managed and tracked through the HighRoads real-time dashboard. Data can be securely passed both internally among departments, functional areas and externally to and from vendors and administrators allowing collaboration and workflow across all stakeholders.

By storing content in the Document Library, data is now auditable - ensuring proper internal controls have been applied and have not materially changed. It leverages current and historical information to be reviewed and reported across multiple variables. Clients reap efficiency benefits by shifting focus to strategic initiatives, eliminating the need to re-key data into multiple systems, expanding and improving employee offerings and doing far more with less.

HighRoads offers a complete suite of services for benefit supply chain management. With HighRoads employers - for the first time -- have online access to benefit plan information and pricing, competitive benchmarks, and complete benefit supply chain management.
